

History of the Airstream 190 B-Van Motorhome

Airstream broke into the small motorhome market on July 1, 1988, when it produced the first Airstream 190 B-Van. Airstream manufactured the 190 B-Van motorhome from 1988 (model year 1989) until 1999 (model year 2000). The B-Van was 19 feet in length and was built on a Ford E350 Cargo Van chassis. It included such features as a lavatory, convertible couch with seat belts, galley, and over-cab bunk. All of the interior furniture was designed to reflect the "Airstream style" present in its travel trailers. From 1989 to 1996, the standard engine on the B-Van was 351 cubic inches, with the option for a 460 cubic-inch engine. Originally, the fiberglass top, manufactured by Okanagan, had two front windows, but the style was changed to take a single, large front window in 1990.

For the 1997 model year, the B-Van underwent a number of improvements. First, the new engine used was a 6.8-liter Triton V-10 engine, which came standard on all vans. In addition, the floor plan was redesigned: the stove moved to the curbside, creating a six-foot-long galley, and the toilet and shower were combined to create a wet bath. A sink was also added to the wet bath. Airstream added exterior storage to the unit and increased aerodynamics for the cab-over design. According to the advertisement for the 1997 model year, Airstream "made more than 20 great improvements" on the B-Van's design.

The final B-Van was completed on August 1, 1999, bringing the total number of units produced in 11 years to 1393.

Historical Timeline of the B-Van

1988

- First Airstream 190 B-Van produced in Jackson Center, Ohio (model year 1989).
- 351 cubic inch engine (STD) 460 cubic inch engine (OPT)

1989

- Design of over-cab bunk changed from two front windows to one (for model year 1990)

1991

- B-Van's top remodeled to be slightly smaller

1992

- Ford E350 chassis redesigned to include a more streamlined grill pattern

1995

- Floor plan redesigned: stove moved to curbside, refrigerator moved to roadside (for 1996 model year)
- New option for microwave over refrigerator

1996

- First B-Van produced with 6.8-liter Triton V-10 engine (now standard on all B-Vans, model year 1997 and newer)

- Lavatory redesigned to create a wet bath with added sink.
- Galley sink moved next to stove to create larger section of counter space.

- New option for 2-seater dinette.

1999

- Final B-Van completed August 1 (model year 2000).

THE AIRSTREAM 190 MOTORHOME

The Airstream 190 is truly the all-purpose RV for today's demanding lifestyles: it's a deluxe 19' motorhome, a spacious second car, and a powerful tow vehicle all in one. Full interior headroom, a complete kitchen and bath, and sleeping accommodations for four mean your family can travel in comfort and security on weekend trips or extended tours. And, just like full-sized motorhome, your interest payment may be tax deductible. Best of all, it's handcrafted by Airstream, so you know you're getting the quality and value that have made Airstream a legend for over 60 years.

Since Airstream constantly strives to improve its product, all specifications are subject to change without notice.

Vehicle Loading—Every effort has been made to provide the greatest number of options for the motorhome owner. Along with these choices comes the responsibility to manage the loads that are imposed by the choices so that they remain within the manufacturer's specified chassis weight limits. Do not overload the motorhome.

Dry weights based on standard features; optional equipment not included. Carrying capacity determined by subtracting dry gross weight from GVWR and includes fluids, options and cargo. Liquid capacities and weights are approximations only.
